

PROUDLY CONNECTING THE WORLD TO THE ENERGY IT NEEDS

The backbone of North America's energy system.

By connecting North America's most competitive supply basins to the markets where demand is rising, we help deliver the energy that keeps economies strong, homes warm and communities thriving across the continent.

One system. Three nations. A connected future.

For more than 75 years, we've built and operated the essential energy infrastructure that powers growth across the continent. We are the only energy company with infrastructure connecting Canada, the United States and Mexico, providing a critical link between low-cost supply basins and high-demand markets.

Our integrated natural gas network works alongside a low-carbon power portfolio anchored by nuclear to connect energy safely, reliably and affordably to the industries, communities and liquified natural gas (LNG) export corridors that depend on it.

Extensive Reach

We operate approximately 93,600 km (58,100 miles) of natural gas pipelines across North America, delivering more than 30 per cent of the natural gas consumed daily across the continent.

Direct pathways to global markets

We connect feed gas to LNG facilities on the U.S. Gulf Coast and built Canada's first direct path to LNG exports through Coastal GasLink.

A diversified, lower-carbon energy portfolio

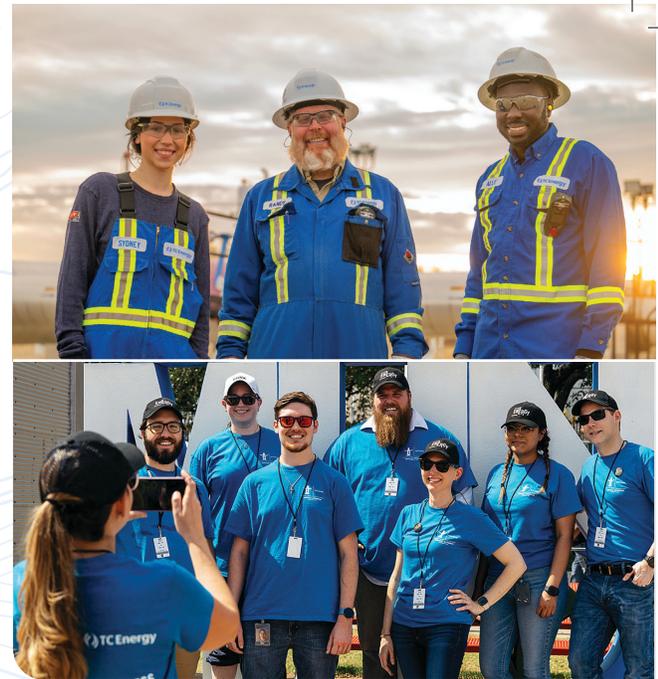

Our investments in nuclear and low-emission generation provide approximately 4,650 MW of capacity — anchored by Bruce Power, the world's largest operating nuclear facility in Ontario, Canada, supplying emission-less electricity to millions.
