

Helping protect your health and welfare

At TC Energy, we are taking steps to help protect the health and safety of our workforce. Here are some of the important steps we're taking:

Adhering to all health directives, government guidelines, and standards to slow the spread of COVID-19.

Increasing awareness of potential symptoms and understanding the requirements of your local public health authorities.

Providing resources and information sharing through the COVID-19 TC Energy SharePoint for employees to maintain health and safety at home or at the workplace.

Utilizing virtual health resources to ensure workers have access to professional medical care and advice, and to reduce strain on local health infrastructure.

Recommending all our workers follow safe practices including hand hygiene, physical (social) distancing, avoiding any public gatherings, and adhering to local travel restrictions.

Together, we will help ensure our workers remain safe.
