

Materiality Assessment

In the context of sustainability, material issues are the topics that matter the most to our business and stakeholders. In 2020, TC Energy conducted a material issue refresh with internal stakeholders. The outcomes of this exercise are identified below (in no particular order). The results are consistent with the findings of our previous internal and external materiality assessments.

Additional information is also available in our Report on Sustainability.

Material Topic	Description
Business resilience	TC Energy's continued agility and adaptability to respond successfully to different energy scenarios.
Corporate governance	TC Energy's governance and management of risk, including those in the area of ESG.
Community investment	TC Energy's ability to demonstrate the value of investing in and giving back to the communities where we live, work, and operate.
Economic benefits of development	TC Energy's ability to bring job opportunities and financial benefits to communities across North America.
Climate change and emissions management	TC Energy's approach to reducing greenhouse gas emissions and managing climate change impacts.
Biodiversity and land use	TC Energy's approach to biodiversity and land use, as it relates to environmental stewardship, protection, and performance.
Integrity of pipelines and facilities	TC Energy's ability to construct and operate our pipelines and facilities safely and reliably every day.
Emergency preparedness and response	TC Energy's ability to plan, practice, and collaborate to respond to incidents and unplanned events quickly and efficiently.
Health and safety of communities, employees and contractors	TC Energy's promotion and implementation of a culture and actions that prevent safety incidents that impact people.
Employee attraction, retention and development	TC Energy's ability to foster a diverse and inclusive workplace and maintain today and tomorrow's talent, skills and expertise in our people.
Stakeholder engagement	TC Energy's ability to foster mutual trust and respect through engagement and consultation with stakeholders, including landowners, where we propose projects and operate assets.
Indigenous relations	TC Energy's ability to foster mutual trust and respect through engagement and consultation with Indigenous groups where we propose projects and operate assets.